An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. The terrain is a mix of dark green forested areas and lighter brown/tan agricultural fields. A network of roads and paths is visible throughout the scene. In the lower-left quadrant, there is a dense cluster of buildings, likely a village or town. A large, irregularly shaped area in the center-right is highlighted with a semi-transparent reddish-brown overlay and a thin green border. A white vertical bar is superimposed on the lower part of this highlighted area, containing the text 'FL GROSUPLJE - Spodnje Blato'.

An aerial photograph showing a rural landscape. A river flows through the scene, with a bridge crossing it. A large area of land is highlighted in a semi-transparent reddish-brown color, outlined with a thin green border. The highlighted area appears to be a field or a specific land parcel. In the background, there are some buildings and a road.
